How We're Different

We Speak Your Language

When you call Network Health, we don't bombard you with health insurance lingo. We talk like people, not insurance dictionaries, and we're ending the jargon.

Wisconsin is Home

We're not a nationwide health plan, and we like it that way. We're a locally owned, Wisconsin-based company. We live and work in the communities we serve.

Focused on You

Our plans give you access to health care professionals who can quickly answer your questions and connect you with programs to better manage your health. If you have a health condition, our nurse care managers can work with you to develop a customized care plan. They can help coordinate care with doctors, explain medical instructions, provide guidance on care and more.

Here's what our employees say about the member experience.

When I talk to people and they say they love Network Health, it makes me feel we are making a difference.
Paul, senior group underwriter

We're different. We're compassionate. We're about people, individuals and their stories.
Danelle, member advocate

I want to make sure our members have the best care. These are families—someone's son, daughter, brother, sister, mom or dad.
Laura, credentialing coordinator
